

We are currently testing a Javascript version of Argos.
Try out MicroArgos today!

Search Argos

Use * for substring searches. Plat* will return entries for Plato, Platonism, Platonic, etc.

ASSOCIATE SITES

Abzu: Guide to Resources for the Study of the Ancient Near East Available on the Internet

Edited by Charles E. Jones (Oriental Institute), Abzu is an extensive index of resources on the pre-Islamic civilizations of Western Asia and Egypt.

Byzantium: Byzantine Studies on the Internet

Edited by Paul Halsall (Fordham University), Byzantium is a course supplement for Byzantine Studies and more.

The Cambridge Classics External Gateway to Humanities Resources

Edited by Bruce Fraser (University of Cambridge), Cambridge Classics provides access to internet resources of general interest to classical scholars, including links to materials on philosophy, ancient science, linguistics, drama and art.

Diotima: Materials for the Study of Women and Gender in the Ancient World

Edited by Suzanne Bonefas (Associated Colleges of the South/Miami University) and Ross Scaife (University of Kentucky), Diotima features a wide-range of resources for teaching and research on women in the ancient world.

Exploring Ancient World Cultures

Edited by Anthony F. Beavers (University of Evansville), Exploring Ancient World Cultures is a general textbook project dedicated to the ancient Near East, ancient India, ancient Egypt, ancient China, ancient Greece, ancient Rome, early Rome and medieval Europe.

Kirke: Katalog der Internet-Ressourcen für die Klassische Philologie aus Erlangen

Edited by Ulrich Schmitzer (Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg), Kirke (in German) is an extensive index of internet sites relating to the classical periods of Greece and Rome.

The Labyrinth: A World Wide Web Server for Medieval Studies

Edited by Deborah Everhart and Martin Irvine (both of Georgetown University), The Labyrinth has become the standard starting point for Medieval Studies on the internet.

NetSERF: The Internet Connection for Medieval Resources

Edited by Beau A.C. Harbin (The Catholic University of America), NetSERF is a subject-oriented index of medieval resources available on the Internet and includes an extensive hypertext glossary of general medieval terms.

The Perseus Project: An Evolving Digital Library on Ancient Greece

Edited by Gregory Crane (Tufts University), The Perseus Project is a growing database containing a vast array of information including texts, lexicons, images and maps on ancient Greece.

Rassegna degli Strumenti Informatici per lo Studio dell'Antichità Classica

Edited by Alessandro Cristofori (University of Bologna), the Rassegna (in Italian) is a gateway to resources for the classical periods of Greece and Rome.

Romarch: Roman Art and Archeology

Edited by Pedar Foss (University of Cincinnati) and supported by the University of Michigan, Romarch is a wide-ranging index of resources on ancient Italy and the Roman world.

OTHER RELATED SEARCHING TOOLS

The Bryn Mawr Reviews

The Bryn Mawr Reviews consist primarily of book reviews in their respective areas. Each has its own search engine: you may search the Bryn Mawr Classical Review or the Bryn Mawr Medieval Review.

Diotima: Materials for the Study of Women and Gender in the Ancient World

Diotima, an Argos Associate (see above), uses GlimpseHTTP to allow users to search the Diotima bibliographies. A separate, but related project, Women's Life in Greece and Rome, an anthology of primary texts, also uses GlimpseHTTP to search the anthology.

The Duke Papyrus Archive

The Duke Papyrus Archive allows users "electronic access to texts about and images of 1,373 papyri from ancient Egypt." It uses Excite for Web Servers to search the archive.

Gnomon Online

Gnomon is an on-line bibliography of resources relating to the classical world. It provides several search tools, including a title and author search and a search of the "Thesaurusanzeige". Users in a hurry may find it easier to begin with the Quick Start Guide. Also on-line is an internet version of Inscriptiones Latinae Eystettenses (last update 95,000 inscriptions).

Hippias: Limited Area Search of Philosophy on the Internet

Hippias is Argos' younger sibling in using the limited area search engine (LASE) technology developed at the University of Evansville. It uses the same system of peer-review that Argos uses to limit the range of responses to philosophy-related resources.

The Labyrinth: A World Wide Web Server for Medieval Studies

The Labyrinth, an Argos Associate (see above), uses Excite for Web Servers to search the entire site.

Nestor: Bibliography of Aegean Prehistory and Related Areas

This site "allows the search of the collected Nestor bibliographies from 1957 until 1995. These include almost 23,000 entries in the bibliography, with reviews to be added soon." The search mechanism allows for both a simple search and a detailed search.

NetSERF: The Internet Connection for Medieval Resources

NetSERF, an Argos Associate (see above), uses a simple search engine to search the entire site.

ORB On-line Reference Book for Medieval Studies

The ORB project, an initiative to create an on-line textbook with both primary and secondary resources, includes its own search engine.

The Perseus Project: An Evolving Digital Library on Ancient Greece

The Perseus Project, an Argos Associate (see above), includes several of its own search engines that provide access to information not covered by Argos: English Index to the Database, Greek Word Search of Primary Texts, English Word Search of the Liddell, Scott and Jones Greek Lexicon, Art and Archeology Indices, Browser for Architecture, Coins, Sculpture, Sites, and Vases, The Encyclopedia Subject Index, and All Primary Texts \(Greek and English\).

TOCS-IN

The TOCS-IN project "archives the tables of contents of over 150 journals of interest to classicists." The project provides a search engine so that you may search the TOCS-IN archives.

See also

AltaVista | Excite | Infoseek | Lycos | Magellan | Yahoo

Computer Services Provided by the University of Evansville

About | Announcements | Associate Sites | Linking to Argos | Help | Search

Argos was designed by Anthony F. Beavers and Hiten Sonpal.

Copyright © 1996, 1997. All Rights Reserved.
